Story told by Mrs. Tucker.

My people were plantation owners, this removal was for the nomadic Choctaws. I did not know I had Indian blood until 1907, when Susie Burton, my grandmother, wrote that they were re-opening the polls. Grandmother wan ted Mother and family to come up and get land.

As to the removal that was started 50 years before I was born.

Note: This lady says she does not know how her name was secured unless it was taken from the Indian rolls.

My Aunt Mrs. J. J. Morrison, may be able to tell some thing about it.
