of crime wave of course. Northeastern State College is expanding is bringing all kinds of characters, in fact the Talequah police uncovered an arsenal of some 30 TV's and 56 radios and so on==In one of the boarding houses where some of the Northeastern Students were there, well otherwords, Cherokee County was getting the blackeye. And this was not in keeping with Cherokee sense of justice. The man should be bomb agent for somebody. Have his editor molding them to more law abiding citizens.

(What do you know about these secret societies? You said one was the Night Hawks, what was the other one?)

The other was the Keetoowahs, now the Keetoowahs, was--

(How do you spell that?)

K e e t o o w a h.

(O.K.)

And I just accidentally met some of the men who were in this, other words they wouldn't tell me too much more but--

(Well, is this a pretty generally known thing, that these societies exist?)

That, I don't know.

(Have you ever heard of many people talk about it, many white people?)

Not too many white people, but some half-breeds have talked about. For example there was a man living right north of our new camp grounds, in fact he was married to one of the -- he was quite prominent in the Cherokee tribe. And then it was a girl's name anymore o-- Near on the east of camp was John Dredful Water, he was of quite, I'm quite sure he was a Cherokee full blood. You know the Cherokee's have that custom of naming their children after the first thing they saw after
