Yeah.

Mrs. Shoals: I was in bed with the flu. And I seen him come. He had on them gowns and robes and things. And pours me out a teaspoonful of medicine and I take it.

The awfulest sight ever I seen. I was. . . .

Mrs. Shoals: Unless it's that clear water.

DISCUSSION ABOUT HELL

And it's a hell just as sure as that bridge is blue out yonder. It come to me and hell (not clear) That was a dream though that I had. It was a dark. Guess you've seen these foggy days. It was dark, you could see though. And I seen people look down in there in that fire. I just could see 'em just standin' in that' in my sleep. It's a hell just as sure as some folks (not clear) but hell just as sure as that wind is blowin' out there now. And it'll burn you too. Yes sir. I seen that. Huh-hu. I says, no that's hell, I believe. It's a terrible lookin' place. And people I could just see 'em down in there. Bones (not clear). All over, just as far as I could look. Just like you see these cloudy days foggy cloudy days. They look like the sky was real dark. You know. They tell me anyways. Hell sure is a (not clear). Some folks don't believe in it. Well, I do, cause I done seen it. (not clear) I know this is.

(I guess the flu was probably worse that year and the small pox was bad.)

Yes, yes.

CHOLERA AND CARBUNCLES ARE MAYBE FATAL

(How about cholera? Do you remember anybody?)

With cholera. No, my boy did but they tell, me it can't be cured around here. Cholera. And there's another disease they can't cure for sure. Out here (not clear). They can't be cured, I guess. I've seen doctor. . .now
