why they call him Opal (?). He didn't go by Big Elk. I don't know why they did that. And I have a picture here of Mr.--Mr. Maker--Deer Horn Maker, in civilian clothes. I think this picture was taken in Hot Springs, Arkansas. Him with Mr. Antoine Pryor (46). And he's dressed in civilian clothes. They both had their picture taken with lion. (laughter). This (not clear) picture.

(This one here--this here's Antoine huh?)

That's Antoine.

(This here's my grandpa?)

(Oh, this picture. Who was she married to?)

Blackdog.

(Oh.)

And this picture--This is one of the old pictures. And here's another old picture, which I don't know their names, but I've heard of them and I think I've seen them, but not--I guess when I was very young. It's Mrs. Pryor, and this other lady she must have been Albert Penn's wife, (49) that's Katherine's grandma. Some more Washington pictures. This is very old picture again that's the family here of Ross Maker and wife and their four children (50). That's must have been you and Harry and Leona and
