Dear Wilma:

As the new chair of the Native American Studies Program, I am happy to inform you about the two searches the Native American Studies Program have recently been authorized by the Dean of Faculty Office to conduct. One of these positions is in Native American history and is at the senior level (associate or full professor). The other is at the assistant professor level and is in the field of Native American religion.

We have already placed the announcements about these positions in various professional publications and computer network services on Native issues, and have received inquiries from a number of attractive candidates. Of course we will make a special effort to recruit Native American scholars. We would very much appreciate any suggestions from you about any potential candidates for these two positions. If you have questions and/or suggestions, please, feel free to contact me by mail, telephone or e-mail.

I look forward to hearing from you and take this opportunity to thank you for your support and all your efforts in the past and seek your continued support as we work together to build an even stronger Native American Studies Program at Dartmouth College.

Sincerely yours,

Sergei Kan
