No. They told him they might give him a job later. And they said they ain't gonna be (unclear) to find any more last night, Nixon did. I don't know what he gonna move the church, he want to.

(That was on the radio?)

Uh-huh. No, it was on the television.

(Oh, it was on the TV news.)

Yeah, Sakey had a hard time. I know all of them around here the one my age.

(So they just lived the best way they could? How about the land. Did they have any land when they was growing up?)

Yeah, they did have--(speaks to Sakey in Cherokee) Her brother, her brother way back, you know.

(But they lost it all, now?)

Uh-huh. And a train ran over her brother, Ben.

Sakey: speaks in Cherokee.

And he--he sold it, give two hundred. He just sold it outside too. She said--they would sell it outside before they would even go through the agents. They cheated him.

(Now let's see, in other words, he just did that on his own?)

Uh-huh. They cheated him, you know, that time. They give him the land outside. I know my sister's husband did it, Jim Bean.

(And this had been a long way back.)

Yes. They could take you back if they want to, too. If they try to what's happen.

(H-m-m. So he just got two hundred dollars or something. Well, how many acres was it.)
