to a point designated, which enabled us to reach our forage the day after overtaking the Indians.

Dr. O'Brien rendered great and willing assistance in trailing. I was glad to have him along the Citizens did well and were grateful enough, to acknowledge that they could have done nothing without the aid of troops, as usual they were profuse in personal acknowledgments.

My men behaved well during the entire scout although I thought at times that they had it pretty rough and were marched pretty hard. I heard no complaints of any nature.

The animals returned in good condition I turned over the recovered stock to the owners after returning to our wagons. There were enough of them to get home safe, they remained with us over night and my men loaned them tents and I think shared their rations with them.

Notes of the Scout were prepared and will be forwarded by Lieut. Abbott.

I enclose papers marked "B" found in the Indian Camp.

Very Respectfully
