

X - One thing I forgot to ask your father was about the fight with the Assinaboines (Hohe) where he captured his adopted brother "Little Assinaboine" or Jumping Bull. Where did this happen? How old were Jumping Bull and Sitting Bull when this happened? Why did Sitting Bull take pity upon this young man? Were they fighting with guns, or how? Who else was there? What did Sitting Bull do and say? What did the captured boy do and say? I would like to know all about this story because it shows Sitting Bull's big heart.

Waziyata mini sose okijate el Hohe ob Kicizapi unkau wahinkpe eela on Kicizapi.
Hohe hokila kin le waniyetu ake topa'sni kin ake gaptan wa he etu, kte pi kte kin le hauk Tatankiyotauke ihunni eel hoke hokila kin le eige eyin na Tatankiyotauke yuzin yanke. Ina eya yus on na sunkaten nice kin heon sunka yin kta cin, heeca isa ktepi kte icin.

Tatankiyotauke takolake kin hema okiyapi na ktepi'sni. Hece Tatankiyotauke hokila kin icaki yin na eel kici ktepi.

1860
Way up North where the Missouri River forks, the Sioux and Assinaboines had a fight with bows and arrows. A Hohe boy, if he is not 14 years of age he was 15 years old, was about to be killed by the Sioux when Sitting Bull arrived.
The boy cried and called S.B. ^{gassawesch} "older brother" and hung on to him.
S.B. not having a younger brother, took pity on him and through the influence of S.B. friends saved him. S.B. raised the boy ^{who} ~~and~~ was loyal to him unto death.