Dear Mr. Campbell,

Yours of the 21 ~~ist~~ is just at hand. I think I can give you most of the information you seek, but I am just on the eve of departure for the western part of the state where I am to speak and to do field work and take interviews. As soon as I return I shall answer you as fully as I can.

Do you expect to finish your manuscript this year, or will you carry it over for another year? I had hoped to get my own book out of the way by the first of September, but I shall not be able to do so. In consequence I have rather let down and it is hard during this excessively hot weather to get up any momentum. I can do the outside work about as well in disagreeable weather as in times when the weather would be more in accord with one's tastes.

If you still contemplate making a trip to this country I shall go with you when you arrive. You would get a little different slant on many things connected with Sitting Bull's life than you can get by reading.

With kind regards,

I am,

Sincerely yours,

Lewis F. Crawford
