Dear Mr. Beede:

Your good letter of January 19 has just come. It was misssent to some other State. Thanks very much for your news about Crazy Horse. And for Gilmore's address, I shall write him. He may have something.

Your mention of Grinnell reminds me of an intention which I have had from the beginning- namely that I am going to give you one of the first copies off the press with a suitable inscription. You have helped me enormously.

I expect to begin the actual writing before long. My mind continually turns now upon matters of phrasing, proportion, and like literary problems of presentation. From this I judge that the labors of research near an end. Therefore I shall be very happy to have any further material you may think worth sending at your earliest convenience.

Yours very cordially,

W.S.CAMPBELL
