

The day after our return the dead policemen were buried in a single grave at the agency with full military honors, and, at the same hour, in the cemetery at Fort Yates the body of Sitting Bull was buried by the prisoners of the post guardhouse unaccompanied by any honors or ceremonies.

M. F. Steele
Lt. Col. U. S. Army Retired.