

His scouts went out and gave some horses to the holdiers of the captive of this woman and brought them to John Grasses's home. The Indians had dressed her up to return her to her people. Some band came and asked Grass's band to go and get this woman. There was quite a tumult among old-timers over the capture and rescue. John Grass and several others were involved in it. There is a certain party used to visit John Grass. They often mentioned a certain white woman in the tribe. John Grass seemed to know all about her.
