list

Louisville, Ky. Sept. 26, 1929
No. 1232 E. Broadway.

Please note changed address!

Dear Campbell:

About two months ago my sister married Mr. John Heller of the Louisville Manual Training Highschool and after their return from a wedding trip to Europe we moved to this new address.

I am just emerging from the awful chaos of this momentous change in my affairs (I mean of course the physical upheaval caused by the removal and the necessity of rearranging all my possessions (especially those connected with my work, about a million studies, sketches, ~~fr̄~~mes, pictures, etc. etc.) in the new quarters which are, however, somewhat roomier than the old ones.

Enclosed you will find the first report of the omniscient man in Washington concerning the speeches of Sitting Bull. As you see, he may yet dig up some information on that point.

It interested me very much to see that you have been in Dakota in the field which ought to help very much to get some of the local atmosphere into your writing. Whom did you have for your interpreter? I shall send your last questions on to Washington and hope that they will know something about them. I hope you won't object if I tell Haskins that you will make full acknowledgment of his help (if it materializes) in the preface of your book, it will doubtless help to stimulate his exertions.

As to the age of Hump when he caught the thunderbird, it seems to me that he said it was about the time when he got married. ~~In~~
