As all the boys in camp are eligible to enter the order as soon as they have proved themselves, and as every encouragement is offered to get them prepared, and it is desired to get all into the order as soon as can be, the secret work here does not offer the offensive features of boys secret societies.

Secrecy here is merely to insure dignity and contentration in the proceedings, and not for exclusive purposes. The members and candidates will feel more prepared to attend to the inner meahing of the ceremony, and to submit to the painting and regalia, if no one sle is there.

As gifte(1//p//// the DS-AC belts must not be forgotten. in In the parade the younger brother and one of his party carry the pipes in front of the troops (in cohumns of fours or twos). No US flag is cocarried in this procession, as the flag is in the fag flag-staff out in the center of the camp. The pipes lead the way- in the hands of the younger brother- to the patriotic salute of the flag that makes for peace and good will. The pipes must be carried a certain way- held out . in front-stem-up, as Henry describes. Perhaps they would be waved????? To keepstint to the drime and bugles: for level at bloods brides (in 20 Each troop-for dress-parades- such as this- has a bugle-corps and drumcorps of adult Chiefs. These are distributed in each troop, but when assembly is formed for the "retreat" (itself a peaceful symbol) these are massed, and make the approprifate music for the ceremony. In paradeeach troop takes turns in singing (and playing) its own songs- Indian-The . Pipe-songs/or processional-frontiersmen, soldiers, cowboys- all their regular form and order of the music should be timed so that the first and third strike up on the inside circuit, and the 2d and 4th on the outside. Each begins at the half-way mark (head chiefs tipi) while the first & 842d) constart at the opening of the camp-circle. Thus each has a space of a 4th of the circle for its song a martine of the set that of another that will be the set of a mort will be the mark will be the set of t