APACHE WORK

All our Apache goods are from the Fort Sill (Geronimo), and Mescalero Indian Reservations, and are of the very best put out by those workers. These bands of Indians, are both beadworkers and basket makers, though for the most part, they have lost the art of working with the sinew, and nearly every piece of their beadwork is made with thread. The scrap baskets, canes, and bags quoted below, are made by the Fort Sill Band, and the placques of the Mescalero band of New Mexico.
