We let Bullock know that we were well aware that the Ward #2 City Commissioner and Mayor Shirley McFee had manipulated the petition of the known drug house at 82 Manchester Street. The city was well aware that the Adventist Hospital owned 82 Manchester and had sold the house to an out of town landlord---on a land contract. Therefore, the landowner of 82 Manchester was the Battle Creek Adventist Hospital.

Mark Crawford as well as Diane King got a copy of the Bullock letter as well as the Battle Creek Enquirer---where we provided proof to all local media that the Battle Creek Police raided time and again 82 Manchester placing Ann J. Kellogg students and teachers in danger of getting killed on the way to and from school.

Page 5 of the Bullock letter, par. 6 states that the Battle Creek Police jeopardized citizens from all over Calhoun County who must attend Ann J. Kellogg School because of handicapped condition, as well as the school bus drivers due to the fact that Ann J. Kellogg is the transfer terminal for school busses from other counties such as Eaton and Barry and other cities such as Albion, Delton, Marshall and others.

The letter stated that on 11-14-1990 Carl Brown, Sec/Treas. of S.T.O.P., presented that Petition to Ward #2 Commissioner Bill Boards.

Mark Crawford of Channel 41 and all the other media were provided a copy of the petition and the letters of denial from the city that the city/county or state had anything to do with selling the Hart Hotel to CAPS on a land contract through the CCDC and the DDA. The Michigan Office of Corrections was furnished proof that Robert Sharkey is and was 2-9-91, the day Diane King was murdered, the chairman of the Battle Creek Downtown Development Association (DDA).

The 1990 Annual Report of the Battle Creek Cereal City Development Corp. I.D. #718436, EIN #38-2537779, states Chris Christ as CAPS Resident Agent. Both Sharkey and Christ are Mayor Shirley McFee's husband's law partners. Chris Christ is on the Board of the Kellogg Foundation and The Battle Creek Community Foundation, which is chaired by William E. LaMothe, the recently retired C.E.O. of the Kellogg Company.

The Diane King murder trial was aired from Battle Creek and viewed nation wide. The scene was played out that Conrad Sindt was "the" most fair and careful judge. The T.V. Court expert commented that they had never seen a judge make such ado over minor technicalities. One T.V. Court expert commented that if all judges were to go to such an extreme not to err, there would never be an end to any case. Those experts made those comments because the judge, not the prosecutor or the defense, but the judge called excessive side-bar conferences---in order
