STAR-VINDICATOR

McAlester, Ind. Ter.
Jan. 27, 1877
Vol. 3 No. 51
McPherson, Editor

OUR KANSAS LETTER

Parsons, Jan. 221

The readers of the Star are to be congratulated on the marked improvement you have made since you moved to McAlester. It is certainly a neat, spicy, well made up paper, having all the requirements of a first-class weekly newspaper. I am confident the good people of Oklahoma and the surrounding states, will give it a hearty, earnest support. You may well claim for the Star-Vindicator that it is the leading paper of the Territory. Although I do not read Choctaw very well, (?) yet I know Judge Folsom conducts that department with great ability, and will present to his readers, articles and items of news which will be of great benifit and interest to them.

McAlester is honored in the residence of broad-languaged, liberal, intelligent business men. Such men as J. J. McAlester, R. M. Jones and others, whose names I cannot recall, are worth everything to the growth and prosperity of a new town like McAlester, which is destined to be, at no distant day, THE TOWN of the Indian country. Your coal mining interests are attracting the attention of the business men all over the country. The fact is, McAlester has the best and most extensive coal fields within a radius of a thousand miles; and the time is rapidly approaching when Kansas Missioui and Texas will draw their supplies of coal from the Indian Territory on account of its cheapness and superior quality. Your lead and silver deposits will come in for their share of attention in due time. I firmly believe there is hidden wealth enough in your hills to make the people of Oklahoma the richest community in the world. Only let your people pull together in all enterprises tending to the development of your mineral and agricultural wealth, and you will soon become a prosperous and happy community. You want to cultivate respect and obedience to law; educate and christianize the people; encourage individual rights in property as the surest way to preserve, undisturbed, your homes to yourselves and posterity.

Dr. S. W. Marston deserves the thanks of the citizens of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations for his decision on the permit law. No one could fail to note the baleful effect of the tax on labor in the deserted and unoccupied fields all over the country. Statistics show that nearly one half the area of land was cultivated last year that was planted the year before. The labor is not in the country, and any policy that drives it out is an injury to all the people. The doctor is right. There should be no tax on the labor of the country.

The people are slowly but surely coming up to your policy. The best way is to be prepared, and then if changes do come, the shock will not destroy the country. Kansas is experiencing the coldest winter for the past twenty years, and there is much distress everywhere. Money is scarce, and no work to do.

I think the people generally will sustain the committee in their plan to count the electoral vote for president. Ultra politicians on each side will not. Honestly believing that Tilden was fairly elected president, I shall not fight if Hayes is declared president by congress, under the compromise presented last week. I think it must be right, fair and honest, else Morton would have signed the report.

I go to Topeka to-night. The great struggle for the election of Senator, commences to-morrow. The friends of Judge Sears feel confident of his election. If the State honors him with its choice, Kansas will have an able, dignified and honorable Senator to represent the people in congress. Your Territory will have a faithful and true friend, who thoroughly understands the wants and necessities of the whole country, and one who will give faithful and intelligent attention to the proper solution of the Indian problem.

The policy of removing the Sioux to the Indian Territory is abandoned for this session. Let your people be warned, for it will be revived again, and without vigilance and watchfulness, this great wrong may yet be perpetrated upon the Indian people.

G.A.R.

STAR-VINDICATOR

McAlester, Ind. Ter.
Jan. 27, 1877
Vol. 3 No. 51
McPherson, Editor

OUR KANSAS LETTER

Parsons, Jan. 221

The readers of the Star are to be congratulated on the marked improvement you have made since you moved to McAlester. It is certainly a neat, spicy, well made up paper, having all the requirements of a first-class weekly newspaper. I am confident the good people of Oklahoma and the surrounding states, will give it a hearty, earnest support. You may well claim for the Star-Vindicator that it is the leading paper of the Territory. Although I do not read Choctaw very well, (?) yet I know Judge Folsom conducts that department with great ability, and will present to his readers, articles and items of news which will be of great benifit and interest to them.

McAlester is honored in the residence of broad-languaged, liberal, intelligent business men. Such men as J. J. McAlester, R. M. Jones and others, whose names I cannot recall, are worth everything to the growth and prosperity of a new town like McAlester, which is destined to be, at no distant day, THE TOWN of the Indian country. Your coal mining interests are attracting the attention of the business men all over the country. The fact is, McAlester has the best and most extensive coal fields within a radius of a thousand miles; and the time is rapidly approaching when Kansas Missioui and Texas will draw their supplies of coal from the Indian Territory on account of its cheapness and superior quality. Your lead and silver deposits will come in for their share of attention in due time. I firmly believe there is hidden wealth enough in your hills to make the people of Oklahoma the richest community in the world. Only let your people pull together in all enterprises tending to the development of your mineral and agricultural wealth, and you will soon become a prosperous and happy community. You want to cultivate respect and obedience to law; educate and christianize the people; encourage individual rights in property as the surest way to preserve, undisturbed, your homes to yourselves and posterity.

Dr. S. W. Marston deserves the thanks of the citizens of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations for his decision on the permit law. No one could fail to note the baleful effect of the tax on labor in the deserted and unoccupied fields all over the country. Statistics show that nearly one half the area of land was cultivated last year that was planted the year before. The labor is not in the country, and any policy that drives it out is an injury to all the people. The doctor is right. There should be no tax on the labor of the country.

The people are slowly but surely coming up to your policy. The best way is to be prepared, and then if changes do come, the shock will not destroy the country. Kansas is experiencing the coldest winter for the past twenty years, and there is much distress everywhere. Money is scarce, and no work to do.

I think the people generally will sustain the committee in their plan to count the electoral vote for president. Ultra politicians on each side will not. Honestly believing that Tilden was fairly elected president, I shall not fight if Hayes is declared president by congress, under the compromise presented last week. I think it must be right, fair and honest, else Morton would have signed the report.

I go to Topeka to-night. The great struggle for the election of Senator, commences to-morrow. The friends of Judge Sears feel confident of his election. If the State honors him with its choice, Kansas will have an able, dignified and honorable Senator to represent the people in congress. Your Territory will have a faithful and true friend, who thoroughly understands the wants and necessities of the whole country, and one who will give faithful and intelligent attention to the proper solution of the Indian problem.

The policy of removing the Sioux to the Indian Territory is abandoned for this session. Let your people be warned, for it will be revived again, and without vigilance and watchfulness, this great wrong may yet be perpetrated upon the Indian people.

G.A.R.