

specialist at Fort Smith, Arkansas. And we've been fortunate to have some volunteers to help us transport these patients when we had our hospital committee's that were set up at the Hasting's hospital back in 1968-7 and '66, if I remember correctly; who our Chief has abolished this hospital committee and if this is solving the problems of the Cherokee health, "Who's responsibility is it to transport these patients to these other specialists doctors, and who's place is it to study about those who are unable to pay for their transportation to and from these various places they are transferred to?"

CONCERNED ABOUT TEACHING STAFF AT CHILOCCO-SCHOOL

And another thing I've been mostly concerned about is the reaction of the employees at the Chilocco Boarding School, which I have been concerned. The actions of the employees seems to lack of staff and education. It seems that they are not--oh, aware of what goes on in their campus. I feel like that these teachers, when I say teachers, I mean the staffs that are over the students should be smarter than the student to correct their mistakes.

CRITICISM OF CHIEF KEELER

And I also see in "Daily Oklahoman", March 27th, 1969, where the oil companies have been sued for the asphalt--ah--

(Was that the price fixing of--?)

Yes, un-hun. And it happens to be that our tribal chief is the president of this Phillips Petroleum Co. and also a president of the board and he is also holding a title as a Cherokee Tribal Chief. This brings embarrassment to our tribe of Cherokees and I am happy to express myself to the reaction of our tribal chief. Thank You.

WAITS FOR COMPLAINTS FROM CHEROKEE PEOPLE

(I see, well you feel like, George that this is--well for yourself and some of the other people they're not too happy about this?)

Well the problems have been brought to our O.C.C.O. office and wondering if
