

(Un-huh)

They called them farm agents. They'd come around and deliver the stuff about once every two or three monts. That was all.

(Yeah)

That was long about, long about '32-'3-'4-'5-'6-'7. Along about '36-'7, it picked up a little.

(Jobs, did?)

Yeah. It changed a little.

(Work picked up?)

OPPORTUNITY TO WORK CAME WITH ROOSEVELT

Well, there was a little work then, you know. You could get a job then but it didn't pay much. About 25-50 cents an hour.

(Oh, was that/ about the time jobs opened up on the W.P.A. ?)

Yeah, that was, let's see, what is it they call it in '32., what did they call it? E.R.A. in '32.

(E.R.A. I'm not--)

Yeah, I think it was.

(I can't place that.

E.R.A. I believe it was in '32, '33, '34 along about '34, '5, '6, '7, '8. It was W.P.A. then.

(Oh, I see. That was long about the time Roosevelt was coming into politics, wasn't it?)

Well, seems like there was something else. Seems like in between the E.R.A. and the W.P.A., it could have been P.W.A.

(P.W.A.?)

Could have been.

(That did help out a lot with jobs?)
