

Copying machines, book-keeping, fundamentals of book-keeping mostly,

(Un-huh)

And then I took a seven month course here at Northeastern last Summer. A Secretarial refresher course.

(Un-huh)

EVALUATES GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS

(I was going to ask you, just in the last few days, they've been having this-- I've been hearing it on the news about this Chilocco Indian School, where they-- Well I think the Principal and the Superintendant were fired because of-- the Bureau of Indian Affairs found out that there had been some brutality there on the treatment of the student's and when you went to school, I just wanted to ask you a little something about the school when you started in grade school and on up through High School-- Oh, the discipline and the teachers and what all you all studied and everything?)

Well, when I went to Grade School, I went to Wynadotte, the Indian school at Wynadotte and they were never, you know, mean to us but they were pretty strict. And I guess they had to have that in order to run the school.

(Yeah.)

As far as I know they were never mean to the girls. I had heard, you know that they were you know sorta, not really mean, but just sorta mean to the boys.

(I guess they got a little bit rough every once in a while themselves, didn't they?)

Boys are boys and I think they might have gotten a little rough every now and then. And then when I went to Haskell, I started there when I was in the ninth grade but as far as I know they were never mean up there and I knew this Principal at Chilocco and he was a pretty nice guy when I knew him.