

Well, go like that and I was going to start on something to talk about and it just come off of my mind. Does that thing go on, you know, when - -

ANOTHER INFORMANT IS INTRODUCED HERE

(Now I'm to ask you to tell me a little bit about the Caddo beliefs and stories that you had in mind.)

FATHER WAS CHIEF ENOCH HOAG

(Let me ask you. What was your maiden name?)

Lillie Hoag. I am a daughter of principal Chief Enoch Hoag. He died years ago.

(That's right. I think I knew that. I had been told. I didn't figure it out.

You see, I'm getting old and forgetful myself.)

He was descended from Jose Maria.

(Chief Enoch Hoag?)

Yes. That was his great uncle and he belonged to the Nadako tribe.

(Do you spell your last name, Hoag? Isn't it Hoag?)

Yes/ Hoag.

(The Nadako tribe. Anadarko is named after your tribe?)

Yes. And I'm part Delaware, too. My mother was a Delaware. She was Nellie Thomas, daughter of Jim Thomas. He was a rancher. Had lots of cattle and horses and his brand was the turtle brand.

(Turtle brand?)

His stock was all marked with a turtle brand.

(Where were you born?)

About a mile north of Anadarko, near Riverside. I was born in August, 1902.

WENT TO ST. PATRICK'S MISSION IN ANADARKO

I went to school at Anadarko. St. Patrick's mission, Anadarko. Catholic school.

(Is that still there, the school?)

well,

(Is that the way out south of town there?)

Yes, but they tore it *

(They tore it down?)
