

way. And Kitts live upon the hill there.

(Yeah.)

Two houses there and then Church of Christ. Well, this house is just right behind the Church of Christ. That's one of the oldest houses I remember.

(I'll have to look at that one.)

INDIAN FAMILIES IN HULBERT

The Tuckers they--I think--it wasn't Tuckers. Oh, I can't think of their name now. But there was four Indian girls of them; and they were just real nice kind of Indians, you know, in our age. Do you know a Miss Little?

(Miss Little?)

Uh-huh, Josie Little.

(No, I don't believe I do.)

She sews for people; she lives back up here. Well, she was the younger one of the four girls.

(Uh-huh.) At that time there was some Indian families that had, quite a bit of money, wasn't there?)

Uh-huh. Yeah. I guess there were.

(And then they owned land?)

Now I'm wondering, where did they get that money at that time? Did they draw it or did they not?

(Well, I think a lot of them had land and they sold some of it.)

Might be.

(I'm not sure myself.)

Well, I'm not sure. I've just got (inaudible) just thought I'd ask.

Where did they get it. But this Josie Little, why there was four girls of them. And they kind of, we played house, played house together.
