

No, well they--I don't know.

(I was just wondering where they got all their booze.)

Do you know, you may not believe it, but I never did know much about this. I hardly ever saw a drunk man. And we didn't know what a drunk man was when we come up here, you know. But they'd say he's drunk. And I don't know how they got it.

(Maybe it was moonshine.)

It was moonshine, I guess, because I know on later they was a lot; but I don't remember anything about it. Just to where they got it. In fact, it must have been what it was, because on later just everybody made moonshine. I'd even make it. Cook it in on the stove.

(Really?)

Yeah. Different ones cook it and make it there on the stove.

(Right at home.)

Right at home. Just lots of them made it. Oh, few years after that you know (inaudible). Yeah, there's some of them that makes it yet.

(Oh really?)

Uh-huh, theys some of them that makes it.

(You see a little blue whiff of smoke coming up, huh, by the creek?

(Laughter.) They usually like to be near running water, don't they?)

Yes, or close to a well or something. I don't know why. Aren't you getting tired? (Interruption.)

DISCIPLINE STRICT

And they were kind of particular with us, though. We was supposed to be out around but I think that's the say they all do. My parents was awful particular about--

(Kind of strict with you?)

Uh-huh.
