

on what you can do. Fifty cents. Forty or fifty cents an hour." He said you can do carpentering. I said, "Yeah. I used to do carpenter work. I like to work." We talked on a while. He said, "Sure, you can get a job down there. Get you work." (Static.)

MANY CHRISTIE FAMILY MEMBERS

(Old man Jim Christie.)

Yeah. That's his allotment there. That's his allotment there. And he's buried there and his wife's buried there and all of his children buried there except Els and Watt. I think they buried them with children.

(Yeah. He would have been your great uncle then. Is that right?)

He was my uncle.

(He was your uncle.)

He was my dad's half-brother.

(Yeah.)

(Not clear.)

There was Addison, Sam, Lee.

Third voice: He was a brother of Jim, wasn't he?

No, he was his son.

(Let's see. Watt, Sam, Steve and -- )

This up here was his wife's allotment over here. And he had allotment north of here.

Third voice: Sally was the girl. Nancy was a girl.

Yeah.

Third voice: And Sue was.

(Not clear) ever get married. She had two boys. Daniel and John. Daniel and John are still living. They live over there toward Honey Mountain. And Charley Roy's wife. There was one married a Johnson. Johnson. And let's see, she had a son -- Frenchman. And Elsie, I don't know. Elsie
