

the Sovo family, Gene and June Sove. Are you around? They may be out visiting, but they are head dancers for the celebration. We have celebration princesses over celebration, the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Nelson Big Bow, Lydia Mae Big Bow. Are you around? Was--is our princess, Lydia will you stand? She stepped out of the arena for a few minutes, she was here. The singers are arranged for their several gourd dances. (Music for about 8 minutes.) (Words not clear)--people follow, that we can distinct over various families recognized by your fathers, that I am glad today that I am able to be here with the descendants enjoying this day--fourth of July day. It makes me happy to see people still enjoying life and respect. So he made $50.00 pledge for this and when this program is over we shall all shake hands with him as we went along the way. And while we are doing this we see Mrs. Kassavoid comes forward saying that she did not forget "Headmen" Tia Piah Society honoring her grand-daughter recently, Teresa Barton Real Bird. Who has been to foreign countries to study with the college group at Chickasha--OCLA. For that reason she would like to honor her grand-daughter--in other words, she wants to give in appreciation, the Tia Piah Society $25.00 for this song. All of us remember that time she was just recently returned from Europe. Jasper we will have a song when you are ready. (Background noise.) We received of Mrs. Kassavoid to show her appreciation the naming of Tia Piah Society for honoring her grand-daughter Teresa Barton Real Bird. A young lady honored to go with a college group to several of foreign cities-- (Music starts in background and continues to the end of tape.)
