

it out to the old people that was enrolled.

(Right.)

Why that been the thing to have done. Then I thought another way to pay the old people already gone, well pay their kids, you know, something. They could have lived off of it. That's the only two ways I thought could have been. Just because somebody is married in your family, they got part of it. I didn't believe it. The old settlers you know come in early, I guess, settled down. They call themselves old settlers. That would be all right for the money.

(End of Interview)