

(That's right.)

They killed 'em like if they were bullflies.

(If they'd rebelled like the negroes have today, they maybe killed 'em off.)

They'd killed 'em off. There wouldn't have been any of 'em.

(There wouldn't have been any, no.)

They were just--

("Cause they were in the minority in that day and age.)

They would have been--they would have just wiped 'em out completely. I can't understand us letting this happen.

(It's beyond me. I have no answer for things that's happening. I mean it don't make any sense some of it. When by all that's good and right and then governing sanctions uphold those same people and put their arm around 'em.

Then we're in bad shape.)

Now they even want to make--build a monument or make a national holiday out of Martin Luther King.

(Yeah.)

And yet there was no question too many smart men run thing. There is information if they'd run it down--but what he was a member of the communist party. He went to Russia. Said he made several trips to Russia--

MORE ABOUT THE STARR FAMILY

(Well. The community of Porum. That must be an old place too, isn't it?)

Yeah. Porum was originally was Starrvilla.

(Starvilla. Well.)

Starvilla.

(Named after the Starr family, was it?)

I suppose that--of course Frost Starr owned everything there at one time at Starrvilla. He had a sawmill, cotton gin, grist mill, grocery store, hardware store, drug store. He owned everything there at one time. Now Doc McAlister
