

Well, my wife told me that my sister was fixing a piece of paper to turn that house over to me. Well, I didn't check that. I was making an oil lease at that same time. Well, she..three rooms painted just cleaned and fixed it up. Well, finally we cleared out. I started working at the peanut plant. Well, I decided I'd buy a home here in town (Anadarko). Well I sold my quarter of land down there 160, my own. I sold it. That's how come I was able to buy this home. Course, I still got another 160 down there, my mother willed it to me.

(Fred, what happened to your mother's allotment from the time that it was first made?)

Well this farm they broke it up in farm land like today.

(Did any of you ever live on that allotment?)

We lived there at one time. My daddy make a crop there one time, I remember that. We lived there about a year or two.

(Was there a house there?)

We had a house there. A two room house for her allotment. Had good water, too, My daddy made a crop there, about two years. Finally, he quit there and they moved that time over there (to Fred's father's allotment). That's before the time we start doing what I been talking about. That's way back. That was before I was married, when I lived over there.

(What about Connie Mae's allotment. What did she do with it?)

She had it leased out. They used to live down there. Back in the twenties. Way before the twenties. Befrom back in 1915 way up in that year. Till her husband he got drafted. Uncle Sam got hold of him. Course it was an old house, till after a few years back that guy he rebuilt another house. That's what's the house that's there today. You know, a four room house pretty good house. Since I repaired it, good house. Yea, I want someone to live in it. One screen window's gone. Screen door's gone. Somebody came along and got it. I told that guy, my lease man, about it. He didn't know about it. He don't hardly go around there. We got a good windmill up there. Lot's of water too. I was telling Ken (a student) about it. That water is a little hard now. Used to be good water. I don't know how
