

There's only one now. One old man.

(Interruption)

Old timer sits around over there and reads the Bible all the time.

(Yeah. And do you remember that place they call Yonkers?)

Yonkers. I've heard of it.

(I've heard of it too, but I never did go there. I think its gone now.

I think the lake covered it up.)

Probably did. I've heard talk of it.

(Interruption)

Lot of farming down there.

(Lots more farming then, than there is now.)

MENNONITE PEOPLE

Is now. These Mennonite people, they took all the farming now.

(Well them's good farmers, aren't they?.)

Good farmers.

(And they're good people too.)

Good people. They sure is.

(I know a lot of 'em and they're all good folks.)

They're good people. No they won't do a lick of work on Sunday, or nothing like that.

(No, they won't.)

They work now some other day except Sunday.

(Now they work six days a week, but Sundays is their's.)

Sunday, that's right.

(They don't do anything. They're one of the few kinds of people that live that way now.)

They won't sell you anything on Sunday.

(No.)
