

Call the Whitmore school. 'Course its the Whitmore settlement all around in that country.

(Yeah.)

Our kids growed up. Well, they went to Whitmore school and Sanders up here too. Stilwell High School.

90Outside of the Christies and the Whitmores and possible some of the Sanders, they pretty well made up this community at one time then.)

Yes, they did. They sure did.

CHRISTIE CEMETERY

(Where was the burial grounds for this community here?)

Well, they had. They've got just a pretty big cemetery now. Over here right close to the Whitmore school house. My son lives right there-- oh--about as far from here to that center from the cemetery now. Got a nice cemetery over there. When we moved here it was just a little bitty small cemetery.

(Well.)

And up on the hill, this farm up here, had an old country cemetery ain't got no bodies buried there for--oh I think there's one or two buried there since we moved here.

(Yeah. Does it have--go by a name?)

No, I don't think this up here--I don't think it ever had any particular-- but it might have.

(Yeah. Is that on the road, is it?K)

No. The road turns up right out there and goes right up on top of the hill up here, just a little ways up here.

(Yeah.)

There's a lot--several old graves there.

(I always like to look at those old cemeteries to see who lived a long
