

Oh, is that right?

(Yeah.)

Well, I'll be, I thought you had a degree.

(No, I just have the one semester over here at Northeastern, plus a few extra little credits I've picked up at different places, you know, at Seminars, etc.)
I thought you'd already. . . .

(So maybe one of these days, maybe in Community Development. . . .???)

You'll get up there, and get it, huh?

(Yeah, so I'll be able to do "my thing".)

COLLEGE EDUCATION

You know college is, I think college is, for an Indian, a young Indian boy today, is the easiest thing in the world to do, financially speaking.

(Uh-hmmm)

Cause they've got too many grants, too many different doors open to attend college.

(Uh-huh.)

I didn't have to pay for one cent of my schooling.

(I understand now though they have cut out. . .not clear. . .)

Oh, gradually they're cutting it down.

(I understand now, it's just the Freshmen?)

Uh-hmmm.

(Is it just the Freshmen now that have the grants? The grants and the loans, or is it Freshmen and Sophomores?)

No, I'm not too familiar with it here recently. I hadn't had any contact with it in about a year. But once you get up to be a Junior or Senior or upper-classman, they work with you the best they could to get you out.

(Uh-huh.)

They gave you preference usually over the incoming students.

(Uh-huh.)
