

years old. Because when she was fifty, she fell and broke her hip. And then after that, though, after she got so she could walk, she taught school.

(She taught there at Pheasant Hill?)

Uh-huh.

(Well.) (How old is Pheasant Hill? Does anyone know?)

Well. That was when they organize the church in '69. 1869.

(1869.)

1869. And this is 1969.

(So that would be a hundred years, then.)

But not in that big building. It was a little log cabin. Now Miss Arch can tell you about those.

(All right.)

And Alvin probably, too.

RECALLS OTHER INCIDENTS OF EARLY DAYS

(Well, I've learned a whole lot about my part of the country here this afternoon. I didn't have any idea. 'Course, none of this--things like this have not been recorded.)

/sentence not clear/

(George Lowrey.)

Major George Lowrey.

(Yeah. And your grandmother lived with them.)

When she was a little child, her mother--

(Well.)

And, oh, two or three of the children lived there. And she said Indians had neat log cabins and they would take this broom weed and make brooms. And they'd sweep their yards around the house.

(Well.)

And they would take sand and sand their floors and they'd just be as pretty and white. And that's the reason it makes us feel strange when
