

a dime. I don't know where--I guess I've had'em too, but I don't remember having them. I've had the gold certificate. I remember them. Had them. I could get gold coin if I'd wanted. I don't know why I didn't get'em. My cousin told me one time. Said, a fella paid him one time in gold.

(Well.)

Paid him off. Said, he was just a young fella. He said, he kept looking in his pocket. You know, he said, I bet people thought he was crazy, or something. He drove along and he'd take that money out and count it. Supposed to have a $150.00. He didn't think he had $150.00. He took out and count it. Be there, of course. Twenty dollars and ten dollar gold.

(That was a lot of money, I guess, in those days.)

Why yes, that was a lot of money. Work steady about a year. Didn't know exactly how long, but he paid him when he quite or something. Either quit or finished up or something. Whatever it was he paid him $150.00.

DELAWARES LIKED TO SETTLE NEAR STREAMS

(Did the Delawares have a courthouse or place where they conducted their business in its old days? I've often wondered it--).

They used to have over around Alluwe or somewhere over in there. They used to have their payments there.

(Yeah.)

Whether they had anything there or not they could around Nowata now, might have. Yeah, might a had.

(Often wondered.)

Yeah. Some of them people might be able to tell you around Nowata up there if anything like that in there.

(static.)

(Oh yes.)
