

nothing like that.

Jenks: Well, I didn't know any better--just a kid.

(Well, I don't think I want to see a hanging. Was Tahlequah a big town then?)

Jenks: Oh, yes, Tahlequah was a good size town. I practically was there all my life. It didn't make any difference like it is now. If you did it or didn't do it, they'd hang you.

NAMES OF CERTAIN PEOPLE--CENTRALIA

(Did you daddy live out there about two miles?)

Jenks: Yes, he lived about 2 miles west of town.

(Did he live there all his life?)

Jenks: I guess he did. I'm pretty sure he did. They lived at Big Spring Creek. He lived there all his life.

(Where was he buried? Do you know, Mr. Ross?)

He was buried in Tahlequah. Yes, he buried in Tahlequah.

(Do you remember any old Cherokee chiefs when you were living there in that country?)

I can remember, but I can't call their name.

(Bushyhead? Do you remember him?)

Yeah.

(Another one was Joel Mayes.)

That's right.

(Then, you remember Col. Johnson Harris?)

Yeah, I worked for him.

(There's another one name Tom Buffington.)

Yeah, he's a great big man. I haven't seen him in years. I believe I'd
