

There were, but see I don't remember.

(Yeah.)

FOUR SQUARE CHURCH

(sentence not clear) That was the way they used to. That was the way they did here.

(What was the first church built in the White Oak community that you recall?)

Well, the first building--well I supposed it was this down here at the--

(not clear) That was the first community church that I remember'em ever building. Now the reason that I said that was part of a school house.

(Yeah. Is that what they call Four Square Church?)

Yeah, the Four Squares took it over now. It was the community church starting.

MORE ABOUT CHURCHES - CIRCUIT RIDER PREACHER

(It was a community church. And you don't recall any of the old preachers that used to travel through the country.)

No, I can't remember. I remember one. He lived here in this country.

His name was Butler.

I forgot his first name. Nate Miles could tell you more about that.

(Yeah and--)

(tape skip)

(Hildebrand. Seem like there was--)

Well, there was a Hildebrand.

(Yeah, Rev. Hildebrand. I've heard about that one.)

Oh, I tell you another Indian preacher. Used to come in my dad's store in Indian Territory days. Corn tassel.
