

I am very proud of him. He was well known. We had four children but just one is living. Who is the mother of four boys and a girl. Just like I want. Her name is Lucinda Lewis Tiger. Her boys are, her oldest is Johnny, next Jerome the artist, Kenneth and Marcie Greta who is the baby. And I have five great-grand children. And I love them all. My great-grandchildren are just like my grandchildren that I have. They're not any different. Greta the baby is now going to college. And I used to wear long dresses. Twice as long as they wear now. And in that day my grandma and mother used to wear long skirts with blouses. They must have bought a lot of yards to make them dresses. But now you don't have to buy many yards. And I used to stay with grandma alot when I was about ten or twelve years old.

COOKING INDIAN FOOD

She used to cook lot of Indian foods. She used to have sofkey. She could make sofkey and sour bread and blue dumplings and home made hominy and abuskey and (word not clear). We always had that food. But now a days, I don't know (words not clear). I can make sofkey but I don't hardly ever make it because it takes long time to cook it. My mother used to cook it outside. They build a big fire and big pot and just cook it outside in those days. They used to cook their meals outside. And then in some houses they had big fireplaces where they cook it on that. They didn't hardly have no cooking stove like there is now. And one of my grandson we was Jerome Tiger. But he was the great artist. God blessed him, he's gone now. I do not think of him like that. I think of him as if he were here with me. I have his pictures hanging in my room. When I'm alone I talk to him. And it seems if he's smiling at me. It's Jerome that has two little pretty girls and one little son who was just a week old when he left them. But I always pray for him that I will be with my love ones that has already gone on, and passed through this world.
