

(Maybe he walked to much carrying mail.)

He's about seventy one. And I'm sixty-seven. I will be. I am. And I lost three children and we just had one daughter. And she's married. Her husband is a minister. And I hope to see at least one of my grandsons to be minister some day. And I pray for them. When we all go to church. And my grandma was from Quadsod (?) Alabama. And Quadsod, Alabama lives in Texas. I used to say with her quite a bit and when she went to church, she and I used to walk about two miles to church. She carried lunch in that days and there was not much cars. Horse and buggy day I guess. My grandmother did not have any of that kind so we had to walk to church and to town.

(Uh-hum.)

She wasn't sickly either. She walked fast and I had to tag along. (interruption) she's kind of healthy kid, My brothers seemed to be healthy I don't know how we getting old, getting to old. To old to live.

(Did you ever live in a log house?)

Well I guess we did but I don't know. Buy my mother said we used to. And she said we used to live up here, not to far from town in a log house.

(Uh-huh.)

I don't know. I guess that's when my father was living. I was a baby then. She said there used to be a circus come into town. And she said, she was sitting in there sewing something and she heard something heavy walking up there, in the yard. And it kind of made a noise like. And felt heavy like and he was against that fire place. And it was winter time then. It was kind of cold like. And it come and laid down along the fireplace where they used to have it in the log houses. And she said., I think my father must have been asleep and others too. I think it was kind of later. And she was sitting up late. She said she was kind of scared. And then it sounded like a lion. She had to wake some of the boys up. And said, "Something
