

We have that all the time at the house, and one Sunday morning this man and his wife and their two grandchildren, they come to our place on Sunday morning and there's a bunch of people over there--all the men folks and woman folks, they got out of the tipi. We use that medicine for our sickness, when we got pain or--it's really good. I don't know how many years I use that medicine.

PEYOTE:

(The peyote?)

They peyote. It's really good. It's good for pain. It's good for pneumonia..really good, cause I seen it done. They used to be some old peoples who came to our peyote meetings like that. If anybody's sick--we doctor them, we give them that peyote. The next morning, they alright. They all well. That same night they get well I seen them.

(How do they do it?).

They just give them that..sometimes they make tea out of it and they drink it and sometimes they grind it and make it kind of soft, you know, and put water in it and stir it and it looks like gravey, but it's peyote. It's kind of bitter, you know--and you just took about this one, it's kind of soft with water mixed in and you stick a spoonful and eat all you want--all of it--and when you got real pain or sickness, it really makes you well. It don't make you go crazy or nothing like that. No, because I don't know how many years I use that medicine and I could get that meaicine and I could chew it in my mouth and I could doctor anybody that's sick--twisted face--I could get them well in two days time.
