

one side could win. Since both sides did those things, some times they had big fights. If you notice old Indians heads long ago they were scars from the "sticks".

Long ago medicine were really strong with Indians but now it's weak. At Stomp ground they really took care of it. They use to didn't dance. But it was way later, Indians started doing it and now they dance, drinking women having period and that's not the right way.

Not much good Indian doctor any more, they don't take care of themselves so that the medicine could be strong.

(He repeated most of these things.)
