

(Well, was your daddy raised there in that country down in there too?)

He was raised in Arkansas.

(What town was your mother from?)

Well, she was originally from Tennessee.

(Yeah.)

Un-hum. Come from there to Arkansas and from there she married my dad there in Arkansas and then they come out here. I guess it was in 19--, 1900, and settled down there.

MANY CHANGES IN LAST 25 YEARS

(Oh, I just wonder sometimes you think about it, what kind of changes we made in this time.

(Well, just think about the last 25 years now. You were living up close to where I was then, but now what will it be like in 25 more years?)

Yeah, just think in 25 years from now.

(I mean, that's not a very long time, really. But there's been a lot that's happened.)

Oh, boy, well, a person never knows. We'll never know.

(No, we'll never know what it will be like 25 years from now, and it (static).) Before I die in there.

(That Union Mission must have disappeared long time ago.)

Oh, yeah, it did. Yeah.

(It was a stone building, wasn't it?)

Yeah. It was an old stone building.

(Yeah, that's quite interesting to try and learn something about it and also there was a Hopewell Mission. Just two or three miles on north of there. It existed about the same time for a few years. But I am not sure just where it was. But it was close to the river there somewhere.)
