iron fense around it, and you go out--let's see now, you go out past the football stadium. I believe that's the exact way--yes, to the first road. Well, let's see now, what're those people's names (not clear)--oh, Claud Frost lives right out in there, and, oh, there's some people that their names is so familiar--Wilmuth--there's a Wilmuth that lives right out in there.

(Wilmuth?)

That lives right out in there.

(Hmmm-hmmm.)

I been out there. I passed it several times, and ---

(Is it off the road?)

It's right---

Across the road, and it's got a little one of those iron picket fences around it--little bit of a square place. I have no idea whose it is. I've asked. I've asked, and I've asked.

(Uh, looks like it has about a dozen graves---)

No, no, looks like it might be two or three.

(Just two or three. There's one I'm thinking about--was a little Keyes cemetery that's out in---)

That isn't in the area of the Keyes though. You're talking about the--oh, Donneleys, and Keyes--that family of Keys?

(Yes.)

Quannah Keyes and all that bunch.

(Mmmm-hmmm.)

Well, I don't believe it's in that general area. This is further on out.
