

for boys to go there than stomp dancing. But I--since it was an order like, I just finally went to stomp dancing and later on well I went back to church again. Every time I done wrong why I always went back to church, that is restoring. Whenever I went to a place I shouldn't like dancing and stomp dancing and so forth I always rededicated when I wanted to go back to church for a while and so that's the way I went about, for many years until I got married. Married the woman that is interviewing me today. I been with her since, when was that?)

(1939)

February--March 10

(April)

April 10, 1939.

(You said you went to New Yaka, was that the last time you attended school?)

No, when I went back from there I ran away from my guardian 'cause I was just nearing my age 21 so when I went over to Sasakwa way that's not far from my birth place I stayed with some relatives over in Sasakwa and I went to school there for awhile around 1934 and then I would go back to school for awhile and then I would quit and then next school that I went to was over close to Konawa when I stayed with my aunt, Susie Factor, over there and while I was there I went to Summers Chapel school, a country school located right close to my aunt. I went to school there to play baseball mostly, and I played baseball little bit, with other boys and then from there I went to Semihole to stay with my great-aunt over there, her name is Jenney Harjo, late Jenney Harjo. She died some years ago and while I was stayed there near old Meka-sukey school, which was closed at the time I went to Bowlegs city school and I went there to play football and I played football. I got on the first team and when we was practicing about second or third day, why, I think I broke