

the fourth one too he served in the Navy. The one that is gone now. He served in the Navy. Air Force, Army, Navy, we have served in those three branches and we don't have--I don't have another boy to serve in the Marines. So, that is enough for what we can do for the United States in military-wise, but I hope that my boy, Morcy, comes home, settles down with his children and to enjoy life at home which is far more better then you would else where, that is in foregin land. We, the Indians, love our American soil. Many of us, that is our ancestors, came from Atlantic seaboard, that is some where from Alabama, Georgia and Florida. In my case because I belong to both tribes and I think they left quite a bit of land down there for somebody else and sort of landed in misfortune, but after all we have learned to love Oklahoma here and as long as we--Our parents we alloted somewhere around 120 acres a head, but that was not enough for us to be born again. Kate born like I am I never got no land. Nothing alloted to me and even my boys they should have some kind of land but they don't have nothing. There should be something done for Indians, you know, when the government made treaty with the Indian they should have thought about that, those Indians should have had some kind of a land alloted to us then even enough for just a homesite and so on because there's a lot of land, I know, that they use it for something that is it belongs federal and no one else owns it. Places like that they ought to break them down and let some of these young Indians to live on it and so on. But anyway they just have to live like anybody else and I'd like to see them settle down at home around here in the United States in civilian life and to enjoy themselves, for the next thirty or forty years, but depending on that they have education too. Enjoy it better than I have than myself because since I don't have an education well I have to work like hard, like more all the time. I never had much time to enjoy other wise or making more money in
