

(Fella by the name of Rickard lives there.

(Yeah.)

At the old Dave Faulkner place.

(Now, let's see, the Walkers. Were they early settlers here too?)

No.

(They came later.)

They were Indians.

(Yeah. And were there some people by the name of Blair?)

Oh yeah. There's a Blair graveyard.

(Yeah. I knew some of those Blair people.)

Its over there at that, oh, Sequoyah.

(Yeah. That's cross the valley here, isn't it?)

Oh you go a mile up that way and a mile on way. Takes you right straight to Atkins, then its a mile back east.

(Yeah.)

Not too far.

(And then Ross family were they down in here too?)

Yeah, lot of Rosses .

(Yeah. Where was their home place?)

Well, it was, let's see, four mile that way and a mile this way. One of 'em had about five wives. Had a two story building.

(Yeah.)

When one died just take 'm out to the back of the house and bury 'em.

(Yeah. Well, they done a lot of things different in those days than they do now.)

Oh yeah.

(You know, I--from what people have told me. Everybody seemed to be happier back then than they are now.)
