

hurt you. So anyway she's afraid. Then she try pick them up you know and finally came back and he say, well restring it. So I guess she went ahead and restring it and there it was. And that's what that old man was. He doctor you. He had what you call buffalo medicine. He what that was he doctor you through that. Doctor you for..maybe you have pneumonia, he cure you of that pneumonia. Whatever that is, he doctor you that way. He pretty good.

(Do you know what this buffalo medicine was?)

No, I don't know what it was, but all they said was buffalo medicine, but they used these songs. I don't know these songs, but they say you ain't allowed to sing them. If I knew it, I wouldn't sing it anyway. They got these buffalo, you know they bushy the tail. They use that, tie together to a stick. They doctor you. They got hoofs, where you butcher the beef, they got these little hoofs. They got them things, several of them and they string them..make a rattle out of it. They use it when they sing when they doctor you..with the buffalo medicine. They sing. They use it. And they got this this Red Hammer feathers. They doctor you with that, fan you. Wherever your hurting there. That's the way that old man, John doctors. I seen him. Yea, what you call them Yellow Hammers, them birds. they got some of them got yellow tails, some got red. They use that I guess that red part of the tail for a fan. That's the way I seen him doctor that way. I seen Winner (Smith) hurt, horse bumped him and boy it liked to kill him and he got sick over that had head trouble. He doctored him. Finally he say he gonna do anything about it and old man Apache John he's the one that doctored. So they got him to help the oldman. They both doctor him, Winner, with that buffalo medicine. Both doctors went in there at night, they doctor at night. Finally come out and he made him come out
