

They have a way I guess. Some way they witch you. They know how to do it. But like myself I don't know anything about it, I don't think I want anything to do with it. It's no good. Yea, those old doctors, way back, what I heard they pretty bad. About doing things that away. And I heard today some of the Navajoes still that away. What I heard. They say they got bad medicine men, Navajoes.

MEDICINE BUNDLES:

(What about the medicine bundles? Did people doctor with those?)

No, I never heard nothing about it. Never heard. All they just..all I heard my mother had been telling me about that bundles you talking about. Way back, I guess they have these war paths, just like they have wars now among these Indians. They get out and go on war path. And some man going like you being drafted you know. Well he go wherever this medicine bundle like you going to make a vow you know. Well, he says, I gonna go to the battle field and I come back I'll go ahead and treat you like you would ..maybe give something. Maybe cover up with a cloth or something. Maybe like that. That's the way they made a vow, I guess, before they go. Sometimes they come true, he comes back without a scratch and he go through what he say. That's why they say, my mother told me that story. But I don't know nothing about it. Deep detail about it.

(What about the peoples who have the bundles now days? Is there any special care they have to give them?)

Well no. Well some of them..some people, they go ahead and make a prayer for anything like these boys, you know. Like Mugzy (Pascal Poolah) come back (from Viet Nam). Well Gertie (Chalepah) she made a prayer when he was going to come back good. (Mugzy lost his lower leg in Viet Nam and is currently hospitalized in San Antonio.) She made a prayer come down
