

never was in a wreck. Well, Mrs. Green, it shows here. So Hattie was over here along with my brother. My brother is the one who took me both places. He wanted, they ask him which part of her body you want to check on? He told'em that I want her to be checked thoroughly through. So's I know what is the matter with her. Well, in Mayo, they told him and I didn't believe it. So, they took me up here to Kansas City. They told me the same thing. Hattie spoke up in Kansas City at research. That's where I went the last time. And Hattie said, doctor, said that I wonder if this had anything to do with it. She said about a year ago--well its over a year now--year ago, last October said she lost her mother. Lost grandma. She took her awful hard. I wonder if that had anything to do with it. Mrs. Whitehorn that's just what's wrong with her. Now Mrs. Green I'm going to talk to you. Now you listen to me. You do what I tell you to do. When you think about your mother or loved ones, go in the other room--one room, and let it out. Cry. It ain't no shame crying. You kept that inside. You did cry, but you didn't want people to see you crying. You held it in, that's what's causing of it. From now on you're going to have a weak--you're health won't be no good. You keep it in. Now I lost my mother. I just lost her about 6 or 7 months ago, but when I think about my mother I go in the other room when I come in home from work. I cry. I let it out. There ain't no shame. I don't care where, Mrs. Green. Just cry out. Let it out. You should have done that. Instead of holding it in to make people think that you're not crying. You was crying inside of you all the time. Now its in a knot in there. It's going to take time to get it loose. It might take a year. It might take a little longer. Then something else come on. 'Cause there here thing--same trouble right here is going to cause of it. (Interruption) I came back from Kansas City. Dr. Nealy said he could straighten me up in 8 months. But he didn't thought, it took three and half months. And after that I got all right. Well then I had them heart attacks. Then I had foot trouble. Bottom of my foot would just come in a knot like that. I couldn't say. It didn't hurt, but it just--Oh, it just make you crazy like. The bottom of your feet--them girls just had to just rub and rub.
