

I went to Norman, the alcoholic school. I thought I was gonna have a place for the alcoholic, I went to homes and talk to the people and I told them what I wanted to do. I needed a little help to buy gas, I told Hazel, if you could make up some sandwich and get some pop. They really believe me. They thought I was really gonna do it. Some didn't think I would do it. I wanted to help and I couldn't get no help. I thought I could get on Community Action, someway in Seminole. I thought if I could get and they help me with mileage, I thought I could do it. The Chief wouldn't let us, do that. So he gave it to somebody else. So now the drunks are still around Wewoka. When I see them they ask me about the meeting I was gonna have for the drunks. Told them I could do along, and I need some help. They just said I was just lieing.

(Unidentified voice: You said they gave that job to somebody else.)

Yeah, but they --

(Unidentified voice: The Community Action.)

Ah-huh, to somebody else. I sorta got mad. And I thought I had better stop, without no help. When I went up to Norman, they help some of them.

(Yeah, they do.)

(Unidentified voice: Were you the first one that started up this -- ?)

Seminole County. Area Director, what's the guys' name?

(Harrington.)

Harrington said he send someone up there, they were up there. I went to see the government employee when they were there.

(Unidentified voice: Who recommend this person, taking that job, the Seminole Chief did that?)

Ah-huh, the Seminole Chief, the Seminole Chief give it to them. The Tallahassee they are gonna have a meeting April 28, this month. I think
