

Vann was the band teacher.

(Vann was the band. I'm trying to remember the man--the one that had charge of the stone mason. And I can't think who that was. He was a little, bitty short fella.)

He was Sac and Fox.

(I believe he was. I may be wrong.)

Yeah, there's some Franklins. Sac and Fox.

(Some of those boys turned out to be real artist. Well, Acee Blue Eagle.

You know, we called him Elliot McIntosh when he was up there. Now he's another one that turned out to be a good artist. In fact he was quite famous when he died.)

Major up there's name was Lannahan.

(Yeah.)

I was in company A.

(Yeah.)

I was the smallest one in company A.

(Well, let's see Nelson Rowe. He was kinda assistant boy's advisor. I don't remember whether he was home two or home one. But he stayed there till he retired though.)

The farm boss was the--Later he become superintendent up there.

(Corrall.)

Corrall, yeah.

(That's who I was trying to think of. And that small boys' matron, Rose Daughtery. What tribe was she?)

Shawnee.

(Shawnee.)

Yeah.
