

(Joke) . There were two boys one of em was a good hunter. Everytime he go hunting he always bring some thing back, big or small!. He was taught to hunt by his daddy he was great hunter. And one neighbor boy, he don't hardly go, his Daddy he didn't teach him because he drink all time so one day this boy they were out of food, his mommy told em go to these boys and go hunting with him. They didn't have anything to eat. And so he picked up his bow and arrow, hunting knife and went this boys house. The boy he began to go hunting when he come. The hunter mother said I will make you lunch and they other boy he didn't have nothing to eat. And so this boy, he had lunch pack and ready to go and away they went. They traveled all day and that evening they came close to hunting ground. The wood they built make fire. One was tired hungry and the one with the lunch he thought if he goes sleep, he thought he would eat dough, and so he act liked he was asleep, so he looked little bit, so he act liked he goes to sleep. Later one he get up and looked he thought he was sleeping. He moved the fire ashes and put the dough on hot dirt and start cooking. And he turn em over when he just about done the hungry one he began to think some way to eat with him when the bread is done. He act like talk in his sleep, he got up walked around talking in his sleep. The boy he was wonder so he decided to wake him up when he hold and wake him up the boy act like he wake up. What is the matter? And he said I had a dream. This big man was standing and with big knife in his hand. What did he was saying, and he said this man this what he says "This big one world with big knife he cut it into and he pulled knife out and he cut the bread into. This is now he done it. He cut bread into, he give you half the world and he gave me the half of the world, so he got half bread and give other boy half bread, and so he eat with em and went to sleep.
